SUZIE McCONNELL SERIO

On Jan. 21, 2003, former WNBA star and two-time Olympian Suzie McConnell Serio was named the third head coach in the history of the Minnesota Lynx. McConnell Serio, 36, has been an influential figure in the world of women's basketball for almost two decades.

For the past 13 years, McConnell Serio has served as head coach of Oakland Catholic High School (Pittsburgh, Pa.). She posted an all-time record of 321-86 (82.5%), including a 120-10 (92.3%) mark the past four seasons. She completed her Oakland Catholic career with her team winning its third PIAA Class AAA championship in 2003 (28-5). Previously, Oakland Catholic won state championships in 2001 and 1993, and was runner-up on two occasions (2002 and 2000). The school won four consecutive district championships from 1999-2002. McConnell Serio reached a coaching milestone on Dec. 17, 2002 when she registered her 300th victory at Oakland Catholic.

The former WNBA point guard played three seasons in the league with the Cleveland Rockers (1998-2000). As a rookie in 1998, she earned WNBA Newcomer of the Year and All-WNBA First Team honors after averaging 8.6 ppg and 6.4 apg (second in the league). Her 373 career assists ranks first on the Rockers' all-time list and 16th in WNBA history. McConnell Serio set the Rockers' single-game records for assists (12) and three-pointers (5) in 1998. She was a two-time winner of the Kim Perrot Sportsmanship Award (1998 and 2000), and finished her professional career with averages of 6.4 ppg and 4.6 apg in 81 contests. Cleveland drafted McConnell Serio in the second round (16th overall) in the 1998 WNBA Draft. While playing in the WNBA, McConnell Serio continued coaching at Oakland Catholic.

Prior to her professional playing career, McConnell Serio won two Olympic medals. She was a member of the gold-medal-winning 1988 U.S. women's basketball team, and earned a bronze medal with the 1992 U.S. Olympic team. In 1988 in Seoul, South Korea, McConnell Serio finished among the U.S. leaders in the following categories: three-point field goals (5, first), three-point field goal percentage (71.4%, first), assists (11, T-second), free throw percentage (91.7%, T-second) and points (8.4 ppg, fifth). She averaged 6.8 ppg and 3.6 apg (second) in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain. Along with the Olympics, she also won a gold medal at the 1991 World University Games.

McConnell Serio completed a stellar collegiate career at Penn State (1984-85 - 1987-88) and finished as the NCAA's all-time career assist leader with 1,307, a record she still holds. She averaged 14.9 ppg and 10.2 apg in 128 contests for the Nittany Lions. As a senior, she was named a First Team Kodak All-American after establishing a school single-season record of 682 points (20.7 ppg). She set the Penn State all-time record for steals (507) and the single-game record for assists (21). A four-time All-Atlantic 10 Conference player, she led the nation in assists as a junior with 355. The Pittsburgh native was named Atlantic 10 Freshman of the Year in 1985 after averaging 12.6 points and 9.7 assists.

McConnell Serio and her husband, Pete, have four children: Peter (12), Jordan (8), Mandy (6) and Madison (5). In 1999, Sports Illustrated named her one of the Top 50 Athletes of the Century in the state of Pennsylvania, and in the same year she was honored as the Pittsburgh Athlete of the Year. She has also been recognized as one of Cleveland's 50 Most Interesting People of 1998 by Cleveland Magazine and as one of "The 10 Gutsiest Women of 1998" by Jane Magazine.

MINNESOTA LYNX INAUGURAL 1999 SEASON

2002 SEASON REVIEW

May/June (5-8) – The Minnesota Lynx opened the 2002 WNBA campaign with a 79-75 overtime loss to the Utah Starzz on May 25. It marked the team's first season opener loss in its four-year history. The Lynx, who played without Katie Smith (dislocated finger), were led in scoring by Svetlana Abrosimova's season-high 26 points. The Lynx embarked on a three-game road trip that began with consecutive victories at Miami (66-63) and Sacramento (63-61). In Miami, the Lynx shot a club-record 55.6% from the field and tied the WNBA single-game record for fewest field goal attempts with 36. The win improved Minnesota's all-time record against Miami to 4-0. The win at Sacramento snapped a four-game losing streak at ARCO Arena and came in front of a capacity crowd of 17,317. The road trip ended on a sour note as the Lynx fell in overtime to Seattle 78-68, despite leading by 11 points (54-43) with 8:46 remaining. In the defeat, Smith connected on three three-pointers and moved past Cynthia Cooper (232) into first place on the WNBA's all-time leader board. Minnesota returned home and fell to the defending WNBA Champion Los Angeles Sparks (76-72) for the 10th straight time. Four of the team's first five games were decided by four or fewer points. Minnesota responded with back-to-back wins against Sacramento and Portland to close out the three-game homestand and improve to 4-3. Prior to the game against the Monarchs, the Lynx made their first ever mid-season trade by shipping guard Betty Lennox to Miami for guard Tamara Moore. (The Lynx and Sol would exchange draft picks days later to complete the deal.) The 60-46 win against Portland – Minnesota's fifth straight over the Fire – was the team's first double-digit victory margin of the season. The team's three other victories were by just 14 points combined. Against the Fire, Abrosimova and Williams each recorded double-doubles. It was only the second time in Lynx history that two players earned double-doubles in the same game (previously: Abrosimova and Smith vs. Portland, 8/8/01). The Lynx hit the road for a season-high four-game, 10-day road trip with stops at Houston, Portland, Los Angeles and Phoenix. Houston overcame a 13-point first-half deficit to retain its perfect record (11-0) against the Lynx with a 51-50 victory. A 59-51 loss at Portland followed as well as defeats at Los Angeles and Phoenix. The Lynx' record dropped to 4-7. In Phoenix, Williams set the franchise single-game mark with 10 offensive rebounds. A home loss to Houston increased the team's losing streak to five games. Minnesota closed out the month with a 67-59 victory against the Orlando Miracle. It was Minnesota's first game against an Eastern Conference opponent since May 28 at Miami.

July (2-11, 7-19) – Smith erupted for a season-high 28 points as Minnesota opened July with an 85-80 overtime win against Detroit. The four-game homestand ended with a one-point loss to the Washington Mystics (64-63). The Utah Starzz handed Minnesota its biggest loss of the season (87-56) at the Delta Center. Portland won the season series with the Lynx after a 75-72 win at Target Center in front of 12,108 fans during the team's first weekday matinee game. With 21 points, Smith became only the ninth player in WNBA history to eclipse the 2,000-point plateau. The Lynx' losing streak increased to five games with back-to-back road losses at Detroit and Charlotte. The two road defeats also increased the team's road losing streak to a franchise-high eight games and dropped the Lynx' record to 6-13. Against Detroit, Smith (27 points) surpassed Utah's Natalie Williams (3,461) to become the all-time leading scorer in the history of U.S. women's professional basketball. On July 16, a day after the 2002 WNBA All-Star Game, Minnesota made the first coaching change in franchise history. The team relieved Brian Agler of his coaching duties and promoted assistant coach Heidi VanDerveer to head coach for the remainder of the season. Agler retained his general manager title with the club. A day later, Cleveland spoiled VanDerveer's coaching debut with a 58-48 victory at Target Center. Miami defeated the Lynx for the first time in five attempts and handed Minnesota its season-high seventh consecutive loss (61-58). On July 24, VanDerveer picked up her first win as Lynx coach with a 70-62 win over Utah. The victory bumped Minnesota's record to 7-15. The Lynx' road woes continued as the team lost each contest on their second four-game road trip of the season – Indiana, Sacramento, Phoenix and Seattle. The Lynx mustered only 45 points at Phoenix (57-45), the club record for fewest points scored. After the loss at Seattle, Minnesota had dropped a club-record 12 consecutive games away from Target Center, the fourth-longest road losing streak in league history. The team's two wins matched the club record for fewest in a month set in July 2001 (2-11).

August (3-3, 10-22) – The Lynx responded by opening the month with consecutive home wins. Minnesota equaled its largest win in team history with a 24-point victory over Phoenix, 75-51. The team shot 65.5% from the field in the second half, establishing a new club record. Smith set a franchise single-game field goal accuracy mark by connecting on nine of 10 shots from the floor (90.0%). The game was played before a season-high crowd of 12,544 fans (third-largest all-time), and the largest home crowd since 1999. A win against Seattle followed and the Lynx notched their third straight home victory, evening their Target Center record at 7-7. Despite shooting a season-low 31.9% from the field, the Lynx upset New York at Madison Square Garden for their 10th win of the season. It was the team's first victory in New York since 1999. For the fourth time during the 2002 campaign, the Lynx suffered at least a three-game losing streak as the team closed out the year with home losses to Charlotte and Los Angeles and a road defeat in Houston. In four years, the Lynx have a combined record of 1-25 versus Los Angeles and Houston, and a 51-51 record against the rest of the league. Minnesota has dropped 12 straight to the Sparks and has yet to beat the Comets in 13 opportunities.

Overall Notes – For the third straight season, Smith led the Lynx in scoring with 16.5 ppg, eighth-best in the WNBA. For the second consecutive season, she led the league in minutes played (36.7 mpg). The 5-11 guard earned her third consecutive trip to the WNBA All-Star Game and was selected to the All-WNBA Second Team, her third straight all-league honor. Williams averaged 10.1 ppg and shot a team-record 56.1% (second in WNBA) from the field. She ranked eighth in the WNBA in total rebounds (7.4 rpg) and second in offensive rebounds (3.1 pg). The 6-2 rookie rewrote the Lynx' single-season rebounding records by establishing team highs for offensive rebounds (96), defensive rebounds (133) and total rebounds (229).

In 2002, the Lynx finished with the fewest wins in club history (10). Minnesota posted a 7-9 record at home and 3-13 mark on the road. The Lynx' offense averaged the fewest points in the WNBA (62.6 ppg). The team ranked 16th in the league in free throw percentage at 66.3% and finished second in turnovers committed with an average of 16.5 per game. The Lynx' defense held its opponents to 65.8 ppg, fifth-best in the WNBA, and posted the sixth-best defensive field goal percentage by limiting its opponents to 41.3% shooting.

2001 SEASON REVIEW

May/June (5-6) – The Minnesota Lynx won their third consecutive season opener with an 82-65 victory at Portland on May 31. The 17-point victory was the largest road win in franchise history. On June 2, Phoenix downed Minnesota 89-80 at Target Center, handing the Lynx their first loss in a home opener. A week later, Minnesota held a double-digit lead against the undefeated Los Angeles Sparks (4-0) with 10 minutes remaining before the Sparks rallied for a 62-60 win at Target Center. The Indiana Fever provided the Lynx their third consecutive home setback (65-60). In the defeat, the Lynx lost Kristi Harrower for the season with a torn left ACL. In the rematch four days later, Stephanie McCarty sank a running jumper with 1.2 seconds left to give Indiana a 67-65 victory at Conseco Fieldhouse. Minnesota snapped its four-game losing streak with a 71-63 win at Detroit the following night. Smith poured in 40 points and accounted for a league-record 56.3% (40 of 71) of her team's points. The win came with a steep price, as Betty Lennox strained her left hip capsule. The injury would force Lennox to miss the next 20 games. In rookie Svetlana Abrosimova's debut on June 22, Minnesota reeled off another victory with a 63-57 home win against Miami. The Lynx lost the next night in Utah, 87-80. Back-to-back wins at Washington (55-51) and versus Seattle (68-59) evened Minnesota's record at .500 (5-5) for the first time since June 2. However, the team dipped below .500 following a 59-52 loss to Houston at Target Center. The Lynx scored a franchise-low 11 points in the first half, the second-fewest points in a single half in league history. For the first time in three seasons, the franchise posted a losing record in the WNBA's opening month. Smith led the team and the league with 24.6 ppg. Prior to her injury, Lennox averaged 12.5 ppg and a team-best 7.8 rpg.

July (2-11, 7-17) – The Lynx opened July with four straight losses. A 52-47 upending at Cleveland was followed by the worst loss in franchise history, a 39-point (91-52) thumping by Sacramento at Target Center. After a loss to New York (70-57), the team's home record fell to 2-6. On July 8 in Los Angeles, the Lynx and Sparks engaged in a WNBA regular-season classic. Trailing by 17 points with 13 minutes left, Minnesota rallied and took the lead with under a minute remaining. The Sparks' Ukari Figgs' three-pointer with 15.1 seconds on the clock sent the game into overtime. Los Angeles rattled off 12 unanswered points in the extra session to defeat Minnesota 100-95. In the loss, Smith set the WNBA single-game scoring record with 46 points. With a combined 195 points, the game was the season's highest-scoring contest in the WNBA, and the third-highest-scoring game of all-time. The Lynx (6-10) snapped their five-game losing skid with a 73-52 home victory against Portland. New York swept the season series from Minnesota with a 67-64 victory at Madison Square Garden. For the second time in 2001, Phoenix out-dueled the Lynx at Target Center, 80-67. The Lynx picked up another victory from the Storm, 68-58, at Target Center. Abrosimova's 21 points led the team, marking the first time in 2001 (18 games) that Smith did not top the Lynx in scoring. Despite the proximity to Disney World, Minnesota's lone game against Orlando didn't prove to be much fun. The Miracle handed the Lynx a 71-49 loss that dropped the team's record to 7-13 and started the second five-game losing skid of the year. Losses to Houston (51-46), Washington (62-60), Utah (68-60 OT) and Los Angeles (78-69) closed out the month. The July 23 loss to the Comets saw Minnesota establish a single-game record by shooting only 20.0% (11-for-55) from the field. Minnesota dropped to 10 games under .500 (7-17) for the first time in franchise history. July's 2-11 record set a franchise record for the fewest wins in a month.

August (5-3, 12-20) – Minnesota opened the final month of the regular season with a 68-63 victory at Phoenix. Smith (36 points) joined Utah's Natalie Williams as only the second player in U.S. women's professional history (ABL/WNBA) to score 3,000 career points. A 72-64 home loss to Charlotte (Aug. 3) officially eliminated the Lynx from playoff contention. In Lennox' return from the Injured List on Aug. 5, Minnesota posted a thrilling 79-76 overtime victory against Sacramento. Abrosimova corralled a club-record 15 rebounds in the win. A return battle against the Monarchs in Sacramento two days later resulted in a 76-59 loss. However, the Lynx responded with a season-high three-game winning streak. Road victories in Portland (70-58) and Seattle (65-51) were followed with a 69-62 win over playoff-bound Utah in the home finale on Aug. 12. The victory at Portland featured a Lynx first as two players (Abrosimova and Smith) recorded double-doubles in the same game. The win also marked the first time in team history that the Lynx had swept a regular-season series from a Western Conference opponent (3-0). The Lynx wrapped up the 2001 WNBA campaign with a 74-60 loss at Houston. The 5-3 record in August provided the Lynx with the third winning month in franchise history.

Overall Notes – Minnesota finished the season with a 12-20 record, including identical 6-10 home and road marks. The team's six home victories were the fewest recorded by a WNBA team in 2001. However, the Lynx recorded a 4-1 mark in the five games in which Abrosimova, Lennox and Smith played. The Lynx finished the 2001 campaign with a 12-3 record when leading at the half, compared to an 0-17 mark when trailing after 20 minutes. Smith rewrote the WNBA record books as she captured seven league single-season records: points (739), scoring average (23.1 ppg), free throws made (246), free throws attempted (275), three-point field goals attempted (240), minutes played (1,234) and average minutes (38.6 mpg). Abrosimova tied for first among WNBA rookies and finished 11th overall with 6.7 rpg.

2000 SEASON REVIEW

May/June (9-5) – The Lynx opened their second WNBA season with a 73-62 victory over the Cleveland Rockers at Target Center with Katie Smith exploding for 34 points. Following the season opener, the Lynx dropped consecutive games at Utah and against Los Angeles. Minnesota rolled to an 88-68 victory versus Detroit. A sweep of a two-game Sunshine State road trip followed with wins in Orlando and Miami. Minnesota's 14-point victory (71-57) in Orlando was the team's largest road win of the season. In a return matchup against the Miracle at Target Center, the Lynx set a club record with their fourth consecutive victory (72-66). The team extended its win streak to five games with a road victory against Phoenix. The third consecutive road win also set a new Lynx high-water mark. Riding a five-game win streak, the Lynx traveled to Houston for a battle between the two teams with the best records in the Western Conference (Houston 8-1, Minnesota 6-2). The Comets remained unbeaten against Minnesota as they pulled out a 78-66 victory. The Lynx suffered their second two-game losing streak of the season with a 19-point loss to Phoenix. Minnesota responded with back-to-back victories over Utah and Cleveland. In another first, Minnesota recorded its first overtime win on Smith's three-pointer with :00.7 remaining to dump the Rockers, 60-57. A defeat in Sacramento and a victory over the expansion Seattle Storm ended the opening month. In the Seattle victory, center Andrea Lloyd Curry was lost for the remainder of the season with a torn left ACL. Minnesota ended the month winning eight of its last 11 games and three of its final four. The Lynx posted records of 4-2 at home, 5-3 on the road and a perfect 6-0 against the Eastern Conference. Smith led not only the Lynx, but the entire WNBA, with 21.9 ppg. She tallied 20+ points in eight games and reached double figures in all 14 contests.

July (4-9, 13-14) – Minnesota opened the month of July with a four-game homestand at Target Center. The Lynx stifled Portland, 81-75, before dropping the three remaining games to Seattle, New York and Houston. The loss to the Liberty marked the Lynx' first defeat at the hands of an Eastern Conference opponent in 2000 (6-1). Minnesota embarked on a franchise-long five-game, 12-day road trip beginning in Phoenix on July 11. Losses to Phoenix and Portland evened the Lynx' record at .500 (10-10). Against Portland, Minnesota set a WNBA single-game record for fewest free throws made with one. Los Angeles handed the Lynx a tough one-point loss (58-57) on two Tamecka Dixon free throws with 1.3 seconds remaining as Minnesota dipped under .500 (10-11) for the first time since June 3. Another defeat by the Monarchs and a 67-61 loss at Seattle completed the road trip. Minnesota's losing skid had reached a team-record eight games. During the eight losses (0-3 at home and 0-5 on the road), the Lynx scored 59.0 ppg, allowed 67.5 ppg and shot 39.8% from the field. The Lynx returned to Target Center on July 23 with an 80-63 win against the Fire. The Lynx swept the season series with Miami with a convincing 68-44 victory at Target Center on July 28. The 24-point victory tied the largest in franchise history as the Lynx connected on a team-best 72.7% (8-for-11) from beyond the three-point arc. The Lynx traveled to the MCI Center on July 29 and defeated Washington, 87-85. Smith's four three-pointers gave her 79 on the season, breaking the WNBA single-season record. The win also marked head coach Brian Agler's 100th professional regular-season victory, making him the first coach in the history of U.S. women's professional basketball (ABL/WNBA) to reach that milestone. The Los Angeles Sparks swept the season series with the Lynx at Target Center with a 73-66 victory, snapping Minnesota's three-game winning streak. In the last five games of the month, Kristin Folkl increased her averages to 8.0 ppg and 6.8 rpg while shooting 48.1% from the field. Smith averaged 4.0 assists in the last seven games and led the team in assists in four of the last seven contests. In the Lynx' last seven victories, Lennox averaged 23.3 ppg on 50.9% shooting. During the eight game losing skid, Lennox' average dipped to 12.6 ppg.

August (2-3, 15-17) - Eliminated from playoff contention on the first day of the month, the streaky Lynx opened August with two consecutive home losses, to Utah and Sacramento. Minnesota rebounded to post an 80-75 win in the regular-season home finale against the Indiana Fever. With the win, the Lynx restored their home record to 8-8, the identical home mark of the previous season. Minnesota closed out the regular season on the road. A 76-67 win at Charlotte gave the Lynx a 10-1 record against Eastern Conference foes. Minnesota wrapped up its second season in the WNBA with a 77-64 defeat to Houston at the Compaq Center. The loss was the seventh consecutive set back against the Comets.

Overall Notes – Minnesota finished 15-17, the identical record the club attained during its inaugural campaign. Minnesota lost 11 of its last 12 games versus Western Conference teams, finishing with a 5-16 record against the West. Smith and Lennox finished the season as the second-highest scoring duo in the WNBA (37.1 ppg). Smith became only the fourth player in WNBA history to average more than 20.0 ppg (20.2 ppg). She finished the season with 88 three-point field goals, the WNBA's single-season record. Lennox, who led all WNBA rookies with 16.9 ppg, earned the 2000 WNBA Rookie of the Year Award. Both players received All-WNBA Second Team honors.

1999 SEASON REVIEW

June (4-3) – The Lynx opened their inaugural season with 68-51 victory over Detroit at Target Center on June 12. Guard Tonya Edwards scored the franchise's first points on a layup on her way to a game-high 20 points. A crowd of 12,122 was on hand to witness the first regular-season game in Lynx history. Minnesota downed Utah (78-54) two nights later to become the first expansion team in WNBA history to start the season 2-0. The Lynx battled the two-time defending WNBA Champion Houston Comets on June 19 at Target Center. At the time, it was a showdown between the league's only remaining undefeated teams (Minnesota 2-0, Houston 3-0). Minnesota fell short, losing for the first time in team history, 69-55. The Lynx completed a three-game western road trip at 2-1, losing to Sacramento before regrouping to defeat Los Angeles and Utah. On June 26 at Utah, Minnesota set a WNBA single-game record by sinking 14 three-point field goals. The month ended with a home loss to Sacramento, but WNBA history was made once again. The Lynx and Monarchs combined to set a WNBA single-game record with 21 three-point field goals (Minnesota 11, Sacramento 10). For the month, Tonya Edwards paced Minnesota with 17.7 ppg. Brandy Reed contributed 13.7 ppg and a team-high 4.6 rpg. Katie Smith added 12.8 ppg after missing the first two games of the season recovering from knee surgery.

July (7-7, 11-10) – Minnesota opened the month of July with an 81-77 double-overtime loss to the Los Angeles Sparks at Target Center. The loss dropped the Lynx' home record under .500 for the first time (2-3). Minnesota bounced back to win three of its next four games. The Lynx defeated Phoenix at home before going on a four-game road trip, the longest of the season. Minnesota lost to Houston at the Compaq Center, but recovered the next night, beating expansion rival Orlando. The Lynx won their second straight game, 58-56, with Reed's running jumper at the buzzer to defeat New York. The two-point victory at New York was followed by a defeat to the Cleveland Rockers at Gund Arena. Minnesota bounced back and racked up three consecutive victories, its longest winning streak of the season. Wins at home against New York and Sacramento were followed by a road victory against the Charlotte Sting. Minnesota struggled at the end of the month, losing four of its last five games, starting with back-to-back home losses against Washington and Houston. The Lynx squeaked out a win at Sacramento, but suffered their worst loss of the season, a 33-point defeat, at Phoenix. The month closed for Minnesota with the sixth home loss of the year against Charlotte, dropping the team's home record below .500 for the second time (5-6). Reed paced the Lynx in July with 15.8 ppg and 6.6 rpg. She led Minnesota in scoring nine times during the month, scoring 20 or more points on six different occasions. Edwards contributed 14.9 ppg.

August (4-7, 15-17) – The Lynx opened August with an impressive 17-point home victory over Phoenix. The win evened Minnesota's Target Center record at .500 (6-6). Minnesota followed the victory by dropping the next four games to Detroit, Los Angeles, Utah and Phoenix, its longest losing skid of the season. An 80-70 loss at Utah on Aug. 7 saw the Lynx' record fall below .500 (12-13) for the first time. A loss at Phoenix two days later marked the first time Minnesota's road record dipped below .500 (6-7). The Lynx snapped the losing streak with a home win versus Utah. Minnesota suffered another slide by losing three of its next four games. The Comets completed the season sweep of the Lynx with a 71-53 victory at the Compaq Center. The Lynx vindicated an earlier loss to Cleveland by defeating the Rockers at Target Center. The victory brought Minnesota's home record above the .500 mark for the first time since July 23. A loss at Los Angeles on Aug. 18 dropped their road record three games below .500 (6-9) and officially eliminated the Lynx from the playoffs. Minnesota ended its regular-season home schedule with a three-point overtime loss to Orlando, 83-80, on Aug. 20. The team closed its inaugural season with a win at Washington that ended a six-game road losing streak. In August, Smith led Minnesota with 13.2 ppg. Edwards added 12.9 ppg and 4.0 rpg. Kristin Folkl scored in double-figures in four of Minnesota's last five games, averaging 13.2 ppg and 7.0 rpg.

Overall Notes – The Lynx tied for fourth place in the Western Conference with a 15-17 record during their inaugural season. Minnesota posted a 7-9 road record and an 8-8 mark at Target Center. Reed topped the Lynx in scoring and rebounding with 16.1 ppg and 6.0 rpg. The Lynx ranked fifth in the WNBA in attendance, averaging 10,494 fans per game.

LEAGUE HISTORY AND INFORMATION

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997. WNBA firsts: Val Ackerman – the first president; Sheryl Swoopes – the first player signed; Cynthia Cooper – the first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets – the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie – the first player to capture all three MVP awards (regular season, All-Star and Finals) in one season. The history of the WNBA follows:

On the Air. . .
Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 50 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 televised WNBA games (with ESPN & NBC) for the 2001 and 2002 seasons, and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner, presenting "Players' Journal," a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on- and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches. Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games during the 2002 and 2003 seasons. In 2003, ABC Sports became a new partner of the WNBA (six-year agreement), joining ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen to carry games for the 2003 season.

In 2001, WNBA games were broadcast by 52 telecasters to fans in 24 different languages and 178 countries. In 2002, the WNBA entered first-time agreements with telecasters in the following markets: China, Russia, Costa Rica, Belgium, Netherlands, Bulgaria and Bosnia-Herzegovina. The WNBA delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 70-30 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

The Players and the Teams. . .
The first of the player signings was announced on Oct. 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo were soon followed by Ruthie Bolton, Lisa Leslie, Cynthia Cooper and Michele Timms, the first international player.

Eight teams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting, Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets and New York Liberty. The Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz comprised the Western Conference. On Jan. 16, 1997, the first 16 players were assigned to teams, and on Feb. 27 an Elite Draft added two more players to each team, increasing team rosters to four. The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft on April 28, 1997. On Nov. 21, 2001, the league held its first Draft Lottery in New York, which was won by the Seattle Storm.

Since the inaugural season, the WNBA has expanded from eight teams to 16. In 2003, 14 teams will participate in the WNBA, including two new franchises in San Antonio and Connecticut, the first WNBA team not owned and operated by an NBA ownership group. The expansion history of the league follows: Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics – 1998, Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle – 1999, Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm – 2000, Connecticut Sun (relocated from Orlando) and San Antonio Silver Stars (relocated from Utah) – 2003. The Miami Sol and Portland Fire ceased operations following the 2002 season. The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games. In 2003, the WNBA will increase its regular-season schedule to 34 games (schedule history: 28 in 1997; 30 in 1998; 32 from 1999-2002; 34 in 2003).

The WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced on April 29, 1999 the league's first collective bargaining agreement - a first of its kind in women's team sports.

The Logos and the Uniforms . . .
The red, white and blue official WNBA logo – "Logo Woman" – was selected from nearly 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including a tie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms – two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

It's a Ball Game . . .
The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock; a 19-foot, 9-inch three-point line; two 20-minute halves; 11-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference, one inch smaller than an NBA ball.

Millions of Fans Join In . . .
The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty defeating the Los Angeles Sparks 67-57 at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. On Aug. 22, 1997 the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on Sept. 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season.

League Showcases All-Stars . . .
On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the Western Conference All-Stars – led by the game's Most Valuable Player, Lisa Leslie (Los Angeles Sparks) – defeat the Eastern Conference 79-61.

In the 2000 WNBA All-Star Game at America West Arena in Phoenix (July 17), the West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 73-61. A crowd of 17,717 witnessed Houston's Tina Thompson capture MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla. (July 16) in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played in Washington, D.C., (July15) at the MCI Center in front of 19,487. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 81-76 and Leslie earned her third MVP honor. ESPN televised the game live for the fourth consecutive year. In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game will return to New York's Madison Square Garden on Saturday, July 12. For the first time, the game will be held on a weekend and will make its national network television debut as ABC broadcasts the event live.

PLAYOFF FORMAT & HISTORY

2003 WNBA Playoffs

The top four teams from each conference will qualify for the 2003 WNBA Playoffs. Teams in each conference will be seeded one through four based on record. Each round of the 2003 WNBA Playoffs is a best-of-three series. The team with the better 2003 regular-season record will have home court advantage in each round of the playoffs. The WNBA uses a 1-2 format throughout the entire playoffs (including the WNBA Finals series), in which the team with the better record plays on the road for Game 1 and returns home for Games 2 and 3. In the Eastern Conference First Round and the Western Conference First Round of the WNBA Playoffs, each conference's regular-season champion (#1 seed) will meet the conference's fourth place team (#4 seed). The conference's second place team (#2 seed) will meet the conference's third place team (#3 seed). The winners of the first-round series advance to the Eastern Conference and Western Conference Finals, with the two conference champions squaring off in the WNBA Finals.

WNBA COMMUNITY RELATIONS

WNBA In The Community

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the seventh season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit., WNBA Read to Achieve and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit.

The WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. program is the WNBA's primary cause-related campaign focusing on three main components - Healthy/Fit Families, Positive Self-Image and Breast Health Awareness. The WNBA tipped off the Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign at 2003 NBA All-Star in Atlanta with the WNBA Nothing But N.E.T. Challenge, which consisted of several challenges designed to educate and inform kids about the value of being active, eating well and developing a healthy and fit lifestyle.

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on increasing public awareness about the importance of early detection of breast cancer and on raising funds to inform and educate women all over the country. Breast health information will be distributed to fans during in-arena awareness nights and a breast health awareness public service announcement will air on nationally televised games and in-arena. Beginning in July, fans can also log onto WNBA.com to bid on their favorite item featured in the Breast Health Awareness Auction. All proceeds from these items, including games of HORSE with WNBA stars, All-Star memorabilia and WNBA autographed items, will benefit the WNBA's Breast Health Awareness partner.

WNBA Read to Achieve

WNBA Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. Supported by Reading Is Fundamental and Scholastic, Inc., WNBA Read to Achieve promotes reading through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year. WNBA players, coaches and family members also join members of the NBA family on local and national All-Star Reading Teams.

Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA Presented by Gatorade and Nike

The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, presented by Gatorade and Nike, is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues in the United States, Canada and abroad that connects players, parents, coaches and officials to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. Approximately 1,000 youth basketball leagues and about 50,000 teams (for boys and girls, ages 5-14 years old) are 2002-03 Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA members. Additionally, 100,000 coaches and 500,000 players and their parents receive program support and materials. WNBA players and coaches make drop-in visits and participate in special events with Jr. WNBA leagues across the country.

LYNX COMMUNITY INITIATIVES

The Fifth Annual Great Basketball Dribble

During the Minnesota Lynx' four seasons in the Twin Cities, the team has raised over $400,000 for breast cancer research in the state of Minnesota. The Great Basketball Dribble is the cornerstone event of the organization's breast health awareness program. This unique breast cancer fundraiser invites participants to dribble (or walk) through the streets of downtown Minneapolis with Lynx players, coaches and staff as well as local Twin Cities celebrities. Participants are required to collect a $25 pledge for the event, and receive a t-shirt and a ticket to a Lynx game. The fifth annual Great Basketball Dribble is scheduled for Sunday, July 20 following the Lynx' game against the Seattle Storm (5 p.m. tipoff). All proceeds from the event will benefit breast cancer research in Minnesota. Participants interested in registering for the 2003 Great Basketball Dribble should call 612-673-8395 or visit the Lynx' Web site at www.lynxbasketball.com. The Lynx have also donated a portion of every ticket sold during the team's four seasons to breast cancer research.

Read to Achieve sponsored by Outback Steakhouse

The WNBA, Minnesota Lynx and Outback Steakhouse have partnered to implement Read to Achieve, a year-round literacy program to help young people develop a life-long love for reading and to encourage adults to read regularly with children. Reaching an estimated 50 million children per year, Read to Achieve is the most extensive educational outreach initiative in the history of professional sports. Locally, the program consists of an All-Star Reading Team, Reading Time Outs, the Starting Five at-home reading incentive program, the refurbishment and creation of reading centers and book donations. For more information on Read to Achieve, log on to www.lynxbasketball.com.

Into the Community

During the 2002 WNBA season, Lynx players and coaches made almost 200 individual player appearances throughout the Twin Cities. Some of the team's appearances included summer schools, basketball camps, shelters, libraries and other local events. During the 2002-03 offseason, Lynx guard Lindsey Meder stayed in the Twin Cities and worked in the team's community relations department. Meder made over 100 community appearances, an average of almost 20 per month. These appearances included – but were not limited to – school visits, basketball clinics, Lynx ticket holder events, D.A.R.E. graduations and civic organizations. National Girls & Women In Sports Day, Take Your Daughter To Work Day and National Reading Day are among some of the Lynx' annual participatory events. All requests for player appearances should be directed to the Lynx Community Relations Hotline at 612-673-8397.

Tickets for Kids

During the 2002 season, more than 35 charitable organizations, including non-profit agencies, schools and shelters throughout the state of Minnesota, attended Lynx games through the donation of the Lynx Tickets For Kids program. Lynx supporters, corporate sponsors and season-ticket holders purchased tickets for this program. Most groups were comprised of women and children that may not have otherwise been able to enjoy the games without complimentary tickets. Season ticket holders also donate unused season tickets to this program for distribution.

Hospital Tour

Lynx players, coaches and staff annually visit area children's hospitals and shelters, bringing gifts, smiles and words of encouragement.

Sharing & Caring Hands

In the Lynx' four seasons in the Twin Cities, the organization and its players have developed a close relationship with Sharing & Caring Hands, a Minneapolis shelter for youths. On a weekly basis, Lynx players visit Sharing & Caring Hands, bringing tickets, Lynx gear and smiles.

D.A.R.E. To Be A Lynx

The Lynx and Minnesota D.A.R.E. have formed a partnership based on cultivating and developing positive role models for young girls and boys – D.A.R.E. To Be A Lynx. D.A.R.E. corporate partners have purchased season tickets for D.A.R.E. officers to distribute throughout their local communities. These tickets are located in the alcohol-free D.A.R.E. Family Section (section 136). Along with the tickets, the Lynx provide basketball clinics for D.A.R.E. students, attend D.A.R.E. graduation ceremonies and provide prizes for fans in the D.A.R.E. Family Section. On Feb. 21, 2003, WNBA President Val Ackerman served as the guest speaker at a Minnesota D.A.R.E. fundraising event celebrating the Lynx and D.A.R.E. partnership.

TARGET CENTER

On Oct. 16, 1990, Target Center arena opened in the heart of Minneapolis' downtown entertainment district. Minnesota basketball fans have been filling it ever since.

The Target Center building is easy to find, located on the western edge of the downtown business district and just steps from the exciting Minneapolis nightlife. Each game, the Target Center can hold up to 19,006 Timberwolves fans and 11,380 Lynx fans who can choose from numerous patron services and amenities to make an evening even more enjoyable. From the Target Center doors, you are a minute's walk by sidewalk or skyway to restaurants, night clubs, shopping areas or downtown hotels.

Lynx and Timberwolves games in Target Center take place in one of the world's most unique settings. The facility offers excellent sightlines, more than 11,000 parking spaces for events located in garages across the street, a 12-ft. by 16-ft. video replay board and one of the highest restroom-to-patron ratios in the industry, plus a world-class health club and a full-service restaurant. The building also offers special needs accessibility, comfortable, theater-style seats and complete access through the skyway system parking ramps.

Target Center Facts
